PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Our January and February meetings were great. We heard from Congressman Randy Weber in January and he gave us a very informative update about what is happening in D.C. and our country. In February we were privileged to hear from Senator Ted Cruz. Who spoke in front of a packed house of 400 people. He told us about happenings at the border and what is happening in the Senate. We always love it when we hear from our elected officials.

Be sure and make your reservations for the March meeting. Kellye Turner from the Office of the Governor's Child Sex Trafficking Team will be our speaker. She will also be bringing a special guest to speak. In April Mark and Patricia McCloskey from St Louis, Missouri, will speak to us about being arrested for defending their home against BLM protesters.

Don't forget it is time to renew your membership. If you have not joined since October 1st please go to www.gtrepublicanwomen.org and renew.

Be sure and check out the TFRW monthly newsletter <https://drive.google.com/file/d/1MrwQ6tXR5nPDyrewmpBy-phpaCtZp60LL/view>

Remember that we need all types of volunteers for the 2024 election cycle. We must all do our part to have a successful primary. Call Cindy Dishman or Stephanie Figari if you are willing to help.

Please make plans to attend the Jefferson County Republican Precinct Convention and Senate District Conventions to be held on March 23, 2024, at the Rocking A Cafe, 3520 Cardinal Dr., from 9:30 AM to 3 PM. Lunch will be provided. We have a lot of delegate spots to fill and you should attend if you are interested.

Be sure to read all your email and text messages because this is our main communication method.

Have a blessed month.

Sincerely,

Elaine

THOUGHT OF THE MONTH

"If we focus on loving people and seeing them as individuals and hearing their ideas, we'll probably agree on a lot more than what people will think."

Rep. Kristi Noem (R-SD)

Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has. -Margaret Mead

Senator Ted Cruz

Ted Cruz (born December 22, 1970, Calgary, Alberta, Canada) is an American Republican politician who was elected to the U.S. Senate in 2012 and began his first term representing Texas in 2013. He unsuccessfully ran for president in 2016. Cruz was known for his conservative views and had a reputation as a firebrand.

His father, Rafael Bienvenido Cruz, was born in Cuba but fled to the United States in 1957 after being imprisoned by the Fulgencio Batista regime. Ted's mother, Eleanor Elizabeth Wilson, was a native of Delaware. When he was born in 1970, the family was living in Alberta, Canada, where his parents worked in the oil industry. Because he was born to an American mother in Canada, Cruz became a dual U.S.–Canadian citizen. The family moved to Houston, Texas, in 1974, where he graduated from Second Baptist School and was raised a Southern Baptist. Cruz later attended Princeton University (B.A., 1992), where he studied public policy and joined a debate team, winning the top award in a national debating championship during his senior year. He then enrolled at Harvard Law School, and he graduated in 1995.

Cruz subsequently clerked at the Fourth Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals (1995) and then for William Rehnquist (1996–97), Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. After entering private legal practice in 1997, he represented Congressman John Boehner in a lawsuit and did preliminary work for the Republican-led impeachment proceedings against Pres. Bill Clinton. In 1999, having become more active in Republican Party politics, Cruz went to work on George W. Bush's presidential campaign, advising the candidate on matters of law and public policy. He served on Bush's legal team before the Supreme Court in Bush v. Gore, which resulted in Bush's election to the presidency. Cruz then worked in the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission.

In 2003 Cruz was appointed solicitor general of Texas, becoming, at age 32, the youngest person to hold the post in the United States. He argued before the Supreme Court nine times and earned a reputation as a fiercely effective litigator. Cruz, a strict constructionist, believed that judicial interpretation of the Constitution must be confined to a more or less literal reading of the text. During his five-year tenure as solicitor general, he successfully argued that international treaties are not binding on states until enacted by the U.S. Congress, and he defended the constitutionality of a public monument that featured the Ten Commandments. Cruz returned to private practice in 2008.

In 2012, in his first attempt to win electoral office, he entered the race for the U.S. Senate post vacated by Kay Bailey Hutchison. Cruz, who was popular within the Tea Party movement, ran to the right of the favored Republican candidate in the primary and won in a runoff by a significant margin. He then easily defeated his Democratic opponent in the general election. After taking office in 2013, he became a leader of the conservative movement in Congress. He developed a reputation as a firebrand, happy to thwart his party's leadership as well as combat initiatives of Pres. Barack Obama and Democratic members of Congress. Cruz emerged as a vocal opponent of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, and in 2013, in an unsuccessful effort to cut off Senate funding of the PPACA, he spoke on the Senate floor for more than 21 hours, part of which time was spent reading Dr. Seuss's Green Eggs and Ham. The move contributed to the U.S. government shutdown the following month.

In 2014 Cruz renounced his Canadian citizenship, and the following year he announced that he was entering the U.S. presidential election race of 2016. Among his earliest acts as a candidate was to say that he would apply for health insurance under the PPACA for himself, his wife (Heidi Cruz, a managing director at Goldman Sachs who took unpaid leave during the campaign), and their two children. In 2015 he published a memoir, A Time for Truth: Reigniting the Promise of America. On the campaign trail, Cruz maintained his conservative agenda. A vocal advocate of a smaller federal government, he supported the abolishment of numerous agencies, notably the Department of Education and the Internal Revenue Service. He also proposed ending the corporate tax and introducing a flat tax. On social issues, he believed that states should be allowed to decide the issue of same-sex marriage, and he sought to limit access to abortions. Cruz began the primary election season by winning the Iowa caucuses in February 2016, and after March's Super Tuesday, when primaries and caucuses were held in 11 states, he was second to Donald Trump in number of delegates. As Trump consolidated his lead over the next two months, Cruz sought to gain momentum by announcing in late April that if he became the Republican nominee, Carly Fiorina would be his running mate. However, after a poor showing in the Indiana primary the following week, Cruz suspended his campaign. By this time his relationship with Trump had become particularly contentious, and at one point Trump made the unsubstantiated claim that Cruz's father was with Lee Harvey Oswald shortly before the latter assassinated U.S. Pres. John F. Kennedy in 1963. However, Cruz endorsed Trump, who was ultimately elected president.

Cruz subsequently supported a number of President Trump's policies, and in 2017 he was involved in crafting major tax-reform legislation. The following year he ran for re-election and faced a surprisingly strong challenge from Democrat Beto O'Rourke. Trump campaigned for Cruz, who narrowly won the hotly contested election. In 2019 the U.S. House of Representatives impeached Trump over allegations that he withheld aid to Ukraine in order to pressure the country into opening a corruption investigation into Joe Biden (in 2020 Biden became the Democratic presidential nominee). Cruz vocally defended Trump, and during the Senate trial he hosted a daily podcast about the proceedings. In February 2020 he voted against convicting Trump, and the president was acquitted in a largely party-line vote. Later that year Cruz published One Vote Away: How a Single Supreme Court Seat Can Change History.

In the 2020 presidential election Cruz was a vocal supporter of Trump, who ultimately lost to Biden. In the ensuing weeks Cruz advanced Trump's repeated claims of voter fraud, though numerous court filings failed to provide evidence to support the allegations. During Congress's certification of the results in January 2021, he was among a group of Republicans who voted to reject electors from several states. The proceedings were interrupted after Trump supporters stormed the Capitol, but the challenge to the election ultimately failed.

May 23-25, 2024
Henry B. Gonzales Convention Center
San Antonio

The 2024 Texas State Republican Convention will be held May 23 – 25, at the Henry B. Gonzales Convention Center. We will begin at 9 a.m. on Thursday, May 23rd.

ANOTHER REASON TO ATTEND REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION MAY 23 - 25, 2024 AND TO RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP TODAY

This year your Executive Committee has decided to make it the year of giving back to our members. We had a very successful TFRW Convention, and we will use that money to assist our members traveling to San Antonio.

ALL clubs will receive compensation in the following amounts:

- 1-4 delegates from your club: $200
- 5-9 delegates from your club: $400
- 10+ delegates from your club: $600

AND we will offer a special $1,000 award to the club in each of the club categories (small, medium, large, jumbo, and super jumbo) who sends the most members to convention as delegates. Members must be a paid member and turned into the TFRW office by March 1, 2024. Club size will be determined based on membership as of March 1, 2024.

This money will be used to give back to our members to help reimburse them for travel expenses. Such as putting a carpool together to share the expense, or putting together roommates from our club to share the hotel expense.

So many events, so little time! But don't you just love campaign season?

We have locally contested Sheriff's and Constables Pct 2 and 4, our Republican Party Chair, and Precinct Chair races. Not to mention our State Representative, Judges and of course Presidential races.

Here is the link to see all of the sample ballots by Precinct: <https://www.co.orange.tx.us/departments/ElectionsAdministration/SampleBallots>

The best work you can do for our great state is here at home. We work hard to improve our community and we work best together.

Reminder: Our Precinct Convention will be on March 9, 2024 at our party headquarters: 206 Strickland Dr. Orange, TX. Precinct #1 – 17 will be at 9AM. Precincts #18 – 34 will be at 11:AM. Our County Convention will be March 16, 2022 at 11AM. It's important to show up at these conventions in order to be a delegate going to the State Convention.

I'll leave you with these words from Ronald Reagan "There is no limit to the amount of good you can do if you don't care who gets the credit."
